

11 billion vaccine doses in 2021.

Today's unprecedented vaccine production is built on collaboration, a global supply chain, complex manufacturing innovations and an ongoing commitment to high safety standards.

Vaccinating the world against COVID-19 takes commitment and partnership.

Eliminating intellectual property protections at the World Trade Organization is an empty promise. Punitive policies like H.R. 3 would weaken America's ability to prepare for the next health emergency. Together, these policies would sacrifice U.S. global leadership in biotechnology.

Instead, we're focused on our mission: saving lives. Right now, that means more vaccines in more arms in countries around the world - without sacrificing safety or endangering production supply chains. We have constructive ways to deliver vaccines, continue to innovate and lower the cost of medicine. That is our focus, day-in and day-out and that work continues.
